

BBC funding comes from...

1. To provide impartial news and information to help people understand and engage with the world around them

2. To support learning for people of all ages

3. To show the most creative, highest quality and distinctive output and services

4. To reflect, represent and serve the diverse communities of all of the United Kingdom's nations and regions and, in doing so, support the creative economy across the United Kingdom

5. To reflect the United Kingdom, its culture and values to the world

What is the BFI's remit and/ or values??

How are they supported or funded?

What are the BFI diversity standards? How are they relevant to I, Daniel Blake?

How do they help with production and development funding?

How do they help with distribution and exhibition?
